Education

Bachelor of Science, Business Administration, Minor in Mathematics and Economics, Certificate in Quantitative Finance - University of Colorado at Boulder - Leeds School of Business

Rebecca Orig is a Senior Global Risk Manager with Panattoni Development Company. She is responsible for managing the risk throughout Panattoni's expanding global operations. She oversees the placement and daily management of the global insurance program for new acquisitions, existing assets and dispositions. Along with capital partners, lenders and tenants she coordinates the insurance coverages and risk management strategy of Panattoni assets.

Since joining Panattoni in 2014, Rebecca has assisted with implementing a new insurance platform to more effectively serve European and global operations. To help foster knowledge exchange and industry best practice standers, she leads quarterly roundtables with capital partners and competitors.

Prior to her current position she worked at Willis, an insurance broker, for two years progressing to the role of Account Manager. She oversaw insurance renewals, policy compliance, and contractual obligations, while also mentoring new team members and streamlining account management processes.

Rebecca has received the designation of Associate in Risk Management. Continuing to stay informed within the industry, she is involved with RIMS - Risk and Insurance Management Society.
